the requirements of the twenty-five-per-Total sales of stocks were $2,600 shares. As a result of the speculation on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday every share traded in, with three important exceptions, showed depreciation in value, ranging from 18 to 2% per cent. But as a rule the losses are merely fractional. Distilling was the only really active stock and was sold freely on the denial of Friday's report of an increase in the tax on spirits. As a result of the selling movement the shares declined 21% from Friday night's closing. Linseed Oil, after an advance of 14 at the opening, broke 3 per cent., closing at the lowest point reached on sales of only 1,200 shares. Consolidated Gas lost 1/2 per cent. on a report that an effort will be made to get the coming Legislature to adopt a measure lowering the maximum price of gas in New York city. All of the grangers were weak on alleged decreasing earnings, but St. Paul preferred, which sold down 11/2 per cent., recorded the only material decline. A slight pressure to sell was felt in Western Union, induced by reports of a falling off in business, necessitating a curtailment of the operating force. The bank statement had no appreciable effect on the market, although it was not up to expectations, showing less than half a million dollars increase in reserve. As the banks have a surplus of over $70,000,000, which is the highest ever reached, the amount of the increase is a small matter, except as serving to indicate that the great flow of currency to this center is being checked, which is not regarded as an unhealthy symptom. The low rates for money current here and the difficulty of placing it even at these small figures have probably induced the banks to check the influx of cash and account for the slight advance in the reserve. here was some covering in the stock market in the final dealings, and the tone of speculation at the close was fairly firm.

The general list, comparing the final sales with those of a week ago, shows a decline in most of the active stocks ranging from 1% to 3% in the grangers and 34 to 1% in the coalers. The bond market was weak until the close, when the dealings became firm. Government bonds were firm. State bonds were inactive. The following table, prepared by James E. Berry, Room 16. PAWNEE MAGIC.

Witcheraft and the Black Art Among a Famous Indian Tribe.

North American Review. There has been a tradition that the medicine men of the once famous Pawnee tribe were peculiarly gifted. That this is anything more than a tradition. I do not believe, for at a time when the Sloux and Cheyennes, Crows and Blackfeet in the articles followed its fluctuations. Helmholz North, and the Comanches, Apaches and Navahoes in the South, were most famous of the aborigines and showed, as they still show, the most powerfully developed types, the horse-stealing Pawnees, who lived along the valleys of the Platte and the Arkansas, whose hand was against every man and whose treaties were only made to be broken, had already begun to dwindle into that insignificance in which we find them to-day in their transplanted home in the Indian Territory. James Beckwourth, the famous scout, who became a war chief under the name of Medicine Calf among the Crows, has related to a friend an extraordinary feat of levitation which a great war chief of the Crow Indians performed in his presence on the eve of leading his warriors to battle. The chief was an aged man and professed to have a premonition of death. For many moons he had led the Crows successfully against their hereditary foes, the Blackfeet. It was not his heart that failed him now, but his medicine had lost its po-

In the dusk of the gray morning he led his braves out on the open prairie, and, setting his shield on edge some fifteen or twenty feet in front of them, pointed to it by his lance. As the eyes of the fighting men rested upon the embossed surface of the buckler it appeared to rise slowly from the ground until it reached a height corresponding to the head of the chief; then, by the same invisible means, passed through the air until it obscured his face and hid it from his warriors. A thrill of horror pervaded the assemblage, but no word was spoken. It was taken as an emblem of his approaching eclipse, his banishment from this world, his journey to the land of the Great Spirit, to which all Indians, good and bad alike, went with unhesitating faith. The great chief was killed that morning.

Boston Post.

"These are trying times for dressmakers," said an industrious member of that class of workers. "It is almost impossible to collect a dollar from a customer, and the more extravagant and exacting the customer the harder it is to get pay for the work done. A somewhat extended inquiry among the dressmaking fraternity elicits the fact that much financial embarrassment and some suffering has been caused by the neglect or inability of customers to pay their bills This fact is well known to the principal salesmen in all of the retail dry-goods houses, for they are daily brought in conof dressmakers who possess independent means, women who follow that branch of industry for a livelihood complain that they cannot collect money enough to meet their current expenses. There are innumerable instances where the credit of these dressmakers at the dry-goods stores is even now strained almost to the breaking point. It was only a few days ago that a dressmaker, who employs from eight to twelve sewing girls, was obliged to solicit from one of her paying customers a petty loan to purchase household necessities. With tears in her eyes she confessed that she social position, and they treat my political requests for payment as impertinence. Some of them have sent me word that they would have to find a dressmaker hereafter who was less importunate. Others tell me frankly that their husbands cannot spare the money to pay dressmakers' bills just now. I have more than $6,000 due me, and my credit is about gone. I do not know what I shall do."

NOTES ABOUT JEWELS.

Emerald is now one of the rarest of pre-The black diamond is so hard that it cannot be polished. Black, pink and golden pearls are more valuable than white. The best opals are obtained from Hungary and Honduras. The emerald has long been regarded as a specific for sore eyes. The star sapphire shows in its depth white star with five rays. The play of color in the opal is due to minute fissures in the stone. An unset diamond looks very much like a bit of the best gum arable. The island of Ceylon is the most remarkable gem deposit in the world. The diamond, in a sufficient heat, will burn like a piece of charcoal. The best pearls are found on the Ceylon coast and in the Persian guif. Pliny, in the first century, was the first writer to describe the diamond. Diamonds so small that 1,500 go to the carat have been cut in Holland. Every gem known to the lapidary has been found in the United States. The Orion diamond is believed to be sponsible for sixty-seven murders. The carat, used in estimating the weight of gems, is a grain of Indian wheat. The Sultan of Turkey has the richest collection of gems and regalia in the world. The pearl is only carbonate of lime, is readily affected by acids, and burns into

The pearl is the only gem that does not require the lapidary's art to bring out its beauty. The diamond mines of Brazil have yielded over 15,000,000 carats of stones, valued at The largest diamond ever known was the Great Mogul, which weighed, in its rough, 793 carais. Moderate Buying and Light Receipts Caused 1-4c Advance.

Falling Off in the Northwest of 3.729 Cars Had Much to Do with the Strength-Provisions Declined.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9 .- Steadiness prevailed in the wheat market to-day, and on light Northwestern receipts and moderate buying there was an improvement of 1/8@1/4c at the close. Corn and oats gained 1/201/40 each, but provisions lost some of yesterday's advance.

The dumping of long wheat, which was the feature of yesterday's trading, appeared to have run its course, and May opened with a gain of 1/6c and held firm at the opening figure for a time, with the offerings meeting with fair buying. The receipts at Chicago were larger than the estimates and this caused a temporary reaction to the opening figures. Minneapolis and Duluth, however, reported but 473 cars. The carloads reported at the two cities this week were but 3,159, against 6,888 for the similar week last year, and this showing materially helped the bull side of the market. Then, too, it was reported that the farmers' stocks of wheat in the Red river valley of the Northwest were about exhausted. Some of the traders who helped prices on the toboggan slide yesterday with their heavy sales were good buyers to-day. Milmine, Bodman and George Seaverne were prominent as buyers and their purchases, with others, helped make the market a firm one at the close, which was but 1/3c below the day's top figures. May opened at 683/4c, declined 1/3c, advanced 1/4c, then 1/3c, lost 1/4c, advanced 1/4c and reacted 1/3c to close at 697/3c. The corn market was firm, but without much activity, and fluctuations were confined to a range of %c. May opened un-changed at 40%c, and on light receipts and liberal buying by Ramsey, Chandler, Bros-seau and others advanced %c and reacted sc, to close at 40%c. Oats fluctuations were early in sympathy with corn, and trading was light. May opened 1/3c up at 31c, advanced 1/4c, lost 1/3c, and reacted 4c, to close at the opening figure, 4c under the top prices of the day. There was a fair amount of trading in provisions, and the market, although lower. was rather firm in tone. The dealings in lard were the most important, and the other sold lard moderately, supposedly for the Cudahy Packing Company, and this sent prices down somewhat. As compared with last night, January pork is 15c lower, January lard .05c off, and January ribs .071/20

Estimated receipts for Monday are Wheat, 162 cars; corn, 475 cars; oats 285

Kind of Diplomate Blount Is. Washington Special to Chicago Record.

Although he served in the House a number of years, he never succeeded in getting even a veneer over his cracker boorishness. The manner in which he is regarded by his neighbors is illustrated by a story I heard to-day. While in Congress Blount happened to have referred to him a bill in which a New York gentleman was interested. The latter wrote to an acquaintance in Macon, Ga., Blount's home, who is a man of reputation and education, and the proprietor of the cotton mills there, asking for a letter of introduction. The Macon man replied that while he was sorry not to be able to oblige his friend, he could not give him a letter of introduction to Mr. Blount, 'for," said he, "I have no relations with him, nor has any other gentleman in this locality that I am aware of."
